ASX Release
26 April 2022

ENVIRONMENTAL REVIEW DOCUMENT ACCEPTED BY EPA

Highlights

- Environmental Review Document accepted by the Environmental Protection Authority of Western Australia
- Mackay Potash Project remains on track to be shovel ready in 2022

Agrimin Limited (ASX: AMN) (“Agrimin” or “the Company”) is pleased to advise that the Environmental Review Document (“ERD”) for the Mackay Potash Project (“the Project”) has been accepted by the Environmental Protection Authority of Western Australia (“EPA”).

An Environmental Impact Assessment (“EIA”) is currently underway for the Mackay Potash Project with the EPA assessing the Project at a Public Environmental Review level with a four-week public comment period. The EPA’s assessment is being undertaken as an accredited process which means a separate assessment by the Commonwealth Department of Agriculture, Water and the Environment is not required.

Agrimin has completed a vast range of detailed surveys and studies to support the EIA over the past six years. The ERD is the key document that provides a comprehensive description of the Project’s environmental setting and potential impacts.

The acceptance of the ERD by the EPA is a key milestone in the EIA process and positions the Project for environmental approval in 2022. The public comment period will occur during May 2022 and is the next step in the EIA process.

Mark Savich, CEO of Agrimin said: “We are pleased to reach this important milestone in the EIA process. The ERD is a comprehensive document detailing the environmental and social impacts relating to the Mackay Potash Project. We are extremely proud of the many years of high-quality, industry-leading environmental work that has been completed to produce this document.

“We believe the rigour and effort that has gone into the ERD strongly demonstrates Agrimin’s commitment to managing the Mackay Potash Project in a socially acceptable and environmentally responsible manner.

“With the EIA process well-advanced, Agrimin is in an excellent position with record high potash prices and a Tier 1 potash project that remains on track to be shovel ready this year.”
